Fire Guts Carter's Neighbor Crews Aid Blaze Fight

Bay St. Louis firemen, aided by volunteer crews from Pass Christian and Long Beach, Sunday night managed to confine a blaze in the business district opposite the L&N railroad station to Carter's Fine Foods grocery which was described as a total loss after a four-hour battle.

Minor damage from smoke also was suffered by the adjoining Benigno's Bar and Meyer's Grocery while Fahey Drug Co., just across the intersection of Keller Avenue moved out its prescriptions as flames threatened to embrace the whole area during the early stages of the fight.

Damage to the Carter property is estimated in excess of $50,000. Charles Carter, proprietor of the grocery, said the inventory of his fixtures was $25,000 and his stock ran about $9,800. He and Mayor John A. Scafide jointly owned the building on which the mayor placed damage at between $15,000 and $16,000.

Carter said he has not had a chance yet to think about plans for the future, after disposing of most of the contents to a salvage crew from Hattiesburg. He and Scafide opened the business in 1947.

W. R. Johnson, Jr., notified the fire department about 10 p. m. when he noticed smoke gushing from the building as he passed.

Firemen were on their way before the sirens were sounded by the water department crew and found flames going strong. The volunteer department from Pass Christian was next on the scene and Long Beach arrived shortly afterwards when the Gulfport fire department was able to send a standby unit to that city while its regular crew was gone. Picayune and Keesler Air Force Base crews answered calls later and stood by until the three trucks on the scene had things pretty well tied down.

Householders in the area made plans to get out when the flames lapped at an old frame dwelling right behind the grocery and it appeared the wind might carry the fire on down Keller before the firemen got the upper hand.

The mayor and Fire Chief Frank Quintini said the blaze was secured about 2 a.m. Monday but the local engine and several men stayed on the scene through the night in case it broke out again. Scafide was high in his praise of the local civil defense fire unit which assisted with the operation as well as the cooperation of neighboring towns.

City Commissioner of Utilities J. Cyril Glover said the stand-by water tank was put in use but pressure from the pumps (Cont. on Page 4.)

Engineers Award Job Titles Building Projects On U.S. 90 Slated

H. Todd of Hopkinsville, arrived Monday to join the staff of the Army Corps of Engineers real estate project here yesterday for the division of the NASA estate site in western Hancock County.

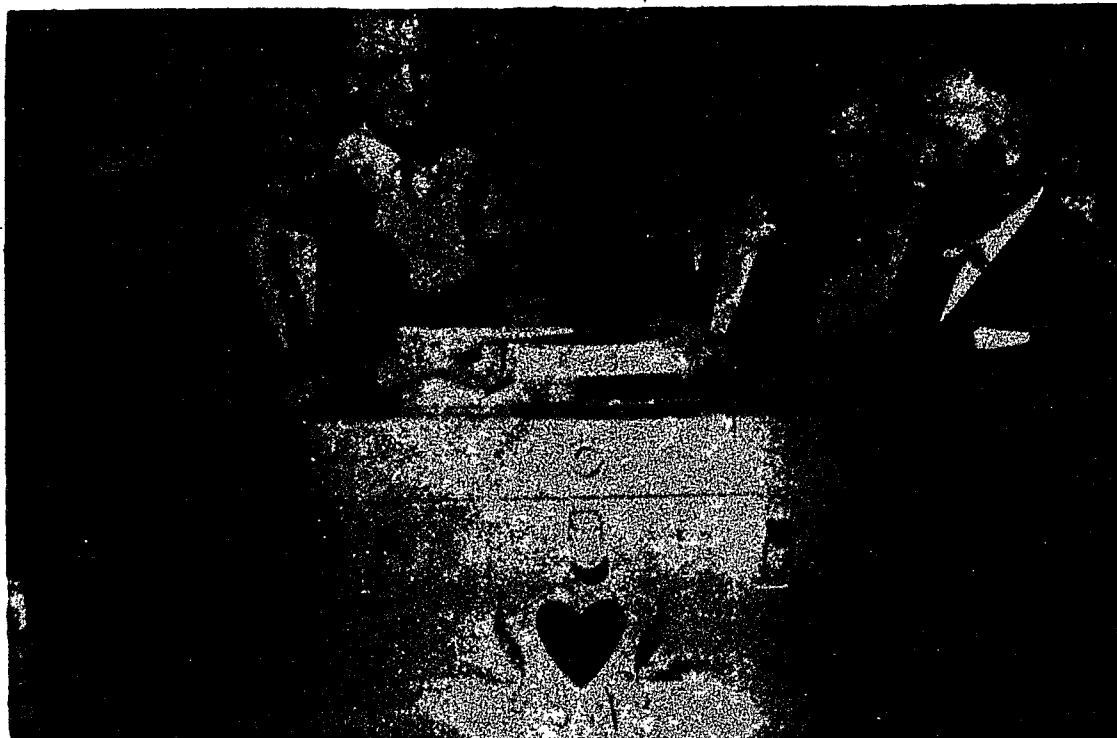

Project Manager O. B. announced. The four men awarded contracts for appraisal work on a part of the fee area are all in the field. Moore reports they are George Wedemeyer of St. Louis, Earl E. Hoxey of Hattiesburg, Jack K. Mann and T. Rogers, Jr., both of St. Louis.

Two major subdivisions, an apartment development possibly as part of a shopping center and a motel expansion are among projects currently in the mill for U. S. 90 between Pearlington and Bay St. Louis. The motel job, at Travelrest, is nearing completion with the addition of a recreation area called Treasure Island and a new office, according to Mr. and Mrs. Dix Ashman, owners. Improvements, including porches, are being made to existing units and a picnic area with an outdoor kitchen and tables along with a swimming and boating hole are part of the job. Trunkline is to be the young fry will be buried on the island.

Next on the drawing board is a club house and 25x50 foot swimming pool which will be the initial part of the new Bay Side subdivision about a mile east of the Lakeshore Road. The 1,200 acre tract is owned by Bosworth Construction Co. About 3,000 lots are ready for development this year with space for more later. Five miles of streets will be blacktopped at this stage and the pool contract already is let. Further recreational facilities such as tennis courts, a putting green, softball diamond and the like will be constructed if the reception to the initial phase warrants, according to Walter J. Phillips, attorney who is handling the subdivision. Phillips also reported about 500 more lots have been subdivided (Cont. on Page 4.)

Leo W. Seal, Jr., of Bay St. Louis was elected treasurer of the 1962 Heart Fund's Mystery Treasure Chest to Mrs. C. R. Smith Has Slim Hope On Roads

A well attended meeting at Picayune Friday night heard John D. Smith, highway commissioner of the southern district, and Martin L. Kent, NASA representative, but received little encouragement for the early paving of the Necaise Crossing to Caesar road or for information on exactly where state Route 43 will be relocated. S. G. Thigpen, Picayune, pointed out Picayune's need for paving its route to the east and for as close as possible a route to the Pearling area. In his address Smith told of the history of the Mississippi Highway Department, the lack of funds for doing all the department would like to do, estimating that with current fund appropriations it would take 31 years to complete paving those roads accepted into the system plus those, like the Necaise Crossing-Caesars road, that have been designated but not accepted.

Smith emphasized that he did not know when the road would be paved but that as of that night it was not scheduled for the early paving the audience desired. He (Cont. on Page 5.)

Mayor, Sheriff Get AAA Tag Off

The Mississippi Automobile Club has requested the American Automobile Assn. to remove its "traffic trap" label on Bay St. Louis as the result of a conference last week in Jackson by Mayor John A. Scafide and Sheriff Gerald V. Price.

The announcement from the MAC said these officials "convinced the motoring organization that the law enforcement officials of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County would deal courteously and efficiently with traffic offenders, reserving the right to strict enforcement of the laws in the interest of safety."

G. D. Beard, manager of the AAA club, said, "I am happy to request a lifting of this listing by our national headquarters. The officials and citizens of Bay St. Louis have our full support in their efforts to reduce the accident and death rate on their highways. I am convinced of the sincerity of Mayor Scafide and Sheriff Price and we certainly will give them our support."

In addition to the release to the Sea Coast Echo, the mayor and sheriff this week received a copy of a letter Beard wrote to the New Orleans States-Item which had commented editorially on the "speed trap" listing, stating the MAC position and saying that complaints against Bay St. Louis actually were directed to the area outside the city.

Mayor Scafide said he was happy to receive the notice following the conference.

Sheriff Price noted that Beard had acknowledged no complaints had been received since last Aug. 3 and observed that while the AAA had said its state office had conferred with local leaders, to his knowledge that had not been the case.

Allegations that his deputies have taken fines from offending motorists on the spot are not true, the sheriff asserted. Every ticket book is kept in his office and the deputy brings the motorist in to book him for charges. "No one has been deprived of his right to a fair trial," he declared.

The sheriff added there has been a substantial reduction in traffic accidents on U. S. 90 in the last year because of the crackdown on speeders. He noted the limit on most of the highway is 60 miles an hour with 50 and 35 mile strips in some places.

Direct Dialing Due This Year

Direct Distance Dialing in Bay St. Louis before the end of the year was predicted by J. C. Dabney, Gulfport, Bell System group manager, to Rotary at its luncheon meeting yesterday. The prediction came during Dabney's talk to the change in procedure, which was followed by illustration of its use with several club members dialing distant cities over a special hookup to Gulfport which started using the new system in January.

According to the speaker, need for direct dialing of long distance calls became apparent to Bell System several years ago because of the impossibility of providing enough operators to handle the increasing number of such calls. Only pre-paid station-to-station calls will be handled in this manner, others being placed through the operator as at present.

Dialing direct only involved the following: first dial the number one; then the area code; and then to number desired. When the called number is in your same area, dialing of the code number is eliminated. Time, (Cont. on Page 5.)

Schools Asked to Push Up Youth Here Plan

Wesley J. Elliott suggested Hancock County Board of Education at its meeting Saturday at its classes to as low as a feasible have one lecture introducing them to some of the youth of the county. Elliott, who is chairman of the Sons of the American Legion of the Youth Court Advisory Board, said too many of the county's youth seek employment elsewhere, but with manufacturing opportunities increasing the projected NASA test opportunities for local youth should greatly increase, particularly for some of the many which could be in industrial area classes.

U. S. Army Corps of Engineers had indicated to him, he reported, that it would consider several lectures if the plan was adopted, and said could help the board work up such a program to "show the children we, the adults, are interested in keeping them in the county". At Trustees S. P. Powell's suggestion Russell was asked to submit an outline of his proposal. Powell moved that Loren Necaise be hired as temporary maintenance man at North Central School on Superintendent Kenneth McCarty's recommendation because Necaise could then be paid out of district funds. Alton D. Keller seconded and the motion passed unanimously.

Also passed unanimously was authority for L. C. Carrington, band master at North Central, to purchase 43 second hand uniforms for $200 if he found them in good condition, as was authority for the Corps of Engineers to use the old Caneville school (Cont. on Page 5.)

Logue, Burrow Honored

Thomas O. Logue, administrator of Hancock General Hospital and active in various civic affairs, was awarded the distinguished Service Award by Bay St. Louis Jaycees at awards, installation and banquet Saturday night. Logue, who lives at 336 Dejean St. with his wife, Marie, and their daughter, Toni, was cited for his service as third president of the Jaycee chapter and one of the founders of the group by E. J. Marengo, 1961 DSA winner. The winner is a Rotarian, member of the American Legion, Gulf Coast Safety Council, Chamber of Commerce and on the board of directors of the American Red Cross.

Adam Eulogizes Bilbo In Address to Jaycees

Bidwell Adam, lieutenant governor in one of the Gov. Theodore Bilbo's administrations and featured speaker at the Bay St. Louis Jaycees annual banquet Saturday night, primarily eulogized the late Mississippi governor, U. S. senator and state legislator and representative, as a man of whom "some impartial scribe shall write, Bilbo will sparkle like a diamond compared to a dew drop on a morning glory". The speaker concluded his remarks by reminding the near capacity audience "A challenge to all of us was one man" whom all navies, armies and politicians combined have not equalled in effect on mankind, Jesus Christ.

The chairman of the state Democratic executive committee and prominent Gulf Coast political leader was at times caustic in his remarks about current Gov. Ross Barnett, for who he was once campaign chairman, but said "I haven't got anything against him—just haven't got anything for him."

He was born and educated in Vicksburg.

Other awards were presented by Michael Haas of Waveland, chairman for the occasion. Award for the outstanding chairman of the year went to Cecil Williams for his work with the Jaycee publication, Spirit of Bay St. Louis, while Herbert L. Stiefel, building committee chairman, accepted the committee of the year certificate. Cited as Jaycees of the month for December was Frank Hille. Marengo, who has passed the Jaycee age limit of 36, was named for the Exhausted Rooster Certificate.

The Key Man certificate and key was presented to Charles L. Carter, Jr., the Presidential Award certificate to Cecil Williams, and the retiring President's certificate to the Past President's plaque and pin.

New officers installed were Charles Carter, Jr., president; Herbert L. Stiefel, first vice president; Gerald C. Cox, second vice president; Joe Barnard, secretary; William Richards, treasurer, and Mike Haas, state director.

Larry Mauffray, Ralph Hille, Joe Keeler and J. Norton Haas, Jr., were installed on the board of directors. Haas, giving his semi-annual report covering the period from last July 1, to Dec. 31, reported the Bay St. Louis chapter has been recognized as the leading Jaycee unit in Mississippi, receiving the One Year Milestone Award, given to the second outstanding new chapter in the nation. This is the only chapter in Mississippi so honored. It (Cont. on Page 5.)

At Waveland

The sand-like appearance of our normally verdant landscape does little to dispell recurring attacks of the mid-winter doldrums. Only the hardiest vegetation possesses color, and the best tended lawns are, so put it kindly, sad looking. Due, no doubt to the proximity of the proposed missile testing project, local residents spent many hours glued to television sets eyeing the too speedy moon shot and much delayed and finally postponed, Glen-orbit. Saturday night many residents found election returns from our neighboring Crescent City most fascinating.

However, things weren't really all that dull. A juke box dance for adults was held at the Clermont-Lakeshore Youth Center Friday night. Due to conflicting engagements, many of the regulars missed this affair, but Herbert Peterson, Joyce and Fritz Garcia, Elaine and B. E. Steinfeld and Catherine and Cecil Barnes had a wonderful time.

KC's tripped the light fantastic Saturday night at their Main Street hall. Some of those enjoying the danceable rhythms of the Skyliners included Ora May and Connie Herlihy, Nona and Harold Zimmerman, Katie and Sam Compreta, Lorraine and Charlie Poolson and the Swayzes, Omega and Hapel, who journeyed from Jackson just for the dance. Sandwiches and coffee were served after the band played Home Sweet Home.

Sunshine Brought Visitors

Welcome weekend sunshine brought many weekenders 'across the lake' - Molly Casey drove over to check on everything at Waveland. She reports that husband Dave is still under the weather. Carmen and Dan Kirschenbecker and the children also arrived for the first time in ages - allowing Dan to relax after the rigors of his strenuous political campaign. Others included the Roger Barbos, the C. M. Hanchersons, the Lewis Cabes, the Harry Blankes, the Richard Hagens, the George Lamplis, and others too numerous to mention.

Quite a bit of excitement on Coleman Avenue Saturday afternoon—everyone dashed out of business places as a siren wailed and a procession stopped at Bob's Service Station—no fire, just a novel way of wishing Harold (better known as Bob) a happy birthday. . . joining in the chorus were Fred Bourgeois, Betty and Fred Rose, Ann and Henry Develle and of course, Georgetown, Grace and Sam Bourgeois are due congratulations—they celebrated their 14th wedding anniversary on Monday. Doris and Cliff Vogt and Nettie and Harvard Burleigh also observed anniversaries on the same date. Greetings, too, to Frances and Tony Compreta who will have been married for 22 years on Saturday, Feb. 4. Ruth and Matt ballatin were looking forward to big doings Tuesday afternoon—a bon voyage party aboard the just re-grounded Del Norte.

Bay Side of the News

There was literally a hot time in the old town Sunday night, but some fancy fire fighting by local and neighboring fire departments and volunteers prevented what might have been a holocaust destroying all of the 'back of town' businesses. Charlie Carter has every one's sympathy, his market is a total loss. . . but damage was held to a minimum in adjoining Meyer's and Benigno's. An enormous crowd turned out to observe the blaze which at one time lit up the whole sky—but it was an orderly gathering—those who were unable to help did not get underfoot. . . every law enforcement officer in the area appeared to be present—'Dub' Scarborough did a bit of fancy footwork on the roof and just about every able bodied man in town gave a hand with the multiple hoses. . . some of those lending moral support were Mrs. John McDonald and her two lovely daughters, Gertrude Perry, who looks pretty even when making an unexpected public appearance, Bea Georgi, Edith and Warren Carver, Matt Rhodes and daughter Gay, Anna Gayaut (husband Gilbert was among the workers) Polly Compreta, who returned from Georgia on Friday, and many, many more wearing attire that ranged from mink hastily thrown over pajamas, sheer gowns beneath trench coats and more comfortable slacks and jeans.

We're happy to hear that Miss Miriam Engman is well on the road to recovery following her recent illness. . . she'll be confined to her home for quite a while, however, Charlie Brown is a patient in Veterans' Hospital in Biloxi, gout, no less.

Ebbie and Jay Clark haven't too much to say about their recent Florida trip—the weather was anything but tropical during their stay.

Complaint Dept.

BB guns and their indiscriminate use by mere tots is the subject of our current gripe. Weekenders are the worst offenders, but local children also kill or maim many of our song birds. . . and when they aren't shooting at birds, dogs or cats, they amuse themselves shooting at one another. If you must give these potentially dangerous weapons to the kids, please supervise use of same.

The kickoff of the 1962 Mother's March on Pollo was a luncheon at Haverly's on Friday—Mrs. Theo Tudury, county chairman and daughter, Dot Russell, Mother's March chairman, hostessed the fete honoring workers, Nona Zimmerman, Thelma Landry and Claire Bourgeois represented Waveland at the affair.

Animal Notes

Alligators continue to be popular pets in our area—little Phillip Garcia was heartbroken when his baby reptile apparently passed away during the freeze. . . his parents, Mantle and Lloyd rose to the occasion in truly noble fashion by placing the supposed corpse beneath their electric blanket, the alligator perked up and to still living and doing well.

The children who are passengers on 'his' school bus have asked us to send their very special greetings to Raymond Talbot, who has been quite ill.

Linda Kidd celebrated her birthday in style Saturday night. . . husband Tommy, Althea and Sterling Balaski, Judy Quintal and J. P. Auderer accompanied Linda first to dinner and dancing in the Blue Room, then to the fabulous Playboy Club.

An interesting visitor in our midst is H. N. Peirce of Fairmont, W. Va. A veteran newspaper man, he is the guest of his brother, Rufus Peirce and family.

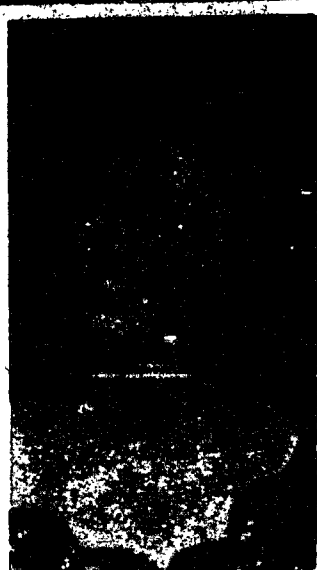

About That Frozen Pump

Sammy Pernicario, who is justifiably proud of his recently re-painted place of business, asks us to clarify the fact that it was the water pump for his home, not his automobile, that was a freeze casualty. Sammy has been the victim of more than a little kidding about this item.

Miss Hincks, Mr. Peranich Are Engaged

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. William Gaudier Hincks of Pass Christian and New Orleans of the engagement of their second daughter, Odele Patricia, to David Dale Peranich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Peranich of Delisle.

The wedding will be on an event of Feb. 17 at St. Paul's Catholic Church, New Orleans.

Education Is Emphasized at Bay HD Meeting

The importance of continued education was emphasized by Mrs. Joseph Hughes, home demonstration agent, when the Bay St. Louis HD Club met last Wednesday in her office with Mrs. C. R. Beyer, president, in charge.

The devotional and singing of America opened the session after which officers gave their reports. Mrs. E. E. Price was welcomed as a new member with Mrs. A. B. Chastain as a guest.

Mrs. Beyer asked the club to cooperate with donations toward the Heart Fund Mystery Treasury Chest Plans were discussed for the county-wide spring dress revue for which Mrs. Hilare Ogden is club chairman.

Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. A. J. Ramage demonstrated pattern alterations and members were reminded of the craft workshop on covering shoes at 1 p.m. Friday in Mrs. Hughes' office.

mer schoolmazes, Sgt. Raymond Cuevas, son of Mrs. Lena Cuevas, and Lloyd Bourgeois, Jr., Army Medical Corps, better known as 'Pat', son of Irene and Lloyd, sr. were overjoyed when they bumped into one another in an Army hospital in Frankfurt, Germany recently. Pat is attached to the hospital and Raymond was visiting his German-born wife, a patient in the infirmary. To their amazement they discovered they lived only two blocks from one another.

Imported!

One of the amazing little side-lights of Bea Georgi's European jaunt occurred when a member of their party ordered imported cheese with his dessert in a French restaurant—that's just what he was served—Velvetina imported from the good old U.S.A.

Lobster is a Jay Lemius, broiled lobster, Shirley-style, roast beef, potato salad, deviled eggs and beverages of every possible description were served at Shirley and Ed Hawkins' summer home Saturday night. The party was in honor of Shirley's birthday and the stereo was forced to compete with election returns in the way of entertainment. Guests included the Pezarcas, Beulah and Frank and Gloria and Herbert, Lloyd and Maude Garcia, Clarence and Justie Herbig, Grace and Sam Bourgeois, Carmel and Jay Lafaux and Elaine and B. E. Steinfeld.

Ed Fayard returned from a visit with wife Lucille in Gulfport Memorial with the good news that her leg had begun to heal allowing several pounds of traction to be removed. She still faces at least four more months in the hospital and welcomes visitors.

Back to the City again

Mrs. Corinne Fleetwood who owned a home, first black of Moor, opposite Nona Hills home, grew tired of commuting, sold to Mrs. William Bisso. . . A year or two later, longing for the Coast she bought in Waveland first black off the beach, sold that and built over in the Bay in North Beach, Cedar Point. . . A chat with her last night finds her packed up ready to move back to N. O. as soon as the act of sale goes through on the house she built in 1947. . . Mrs. Fleetwood, now Mrs. George Langhoff, retired from her position with the New Orleans Housing Authority where she investigated and screened applicants for apartments. Mrs. Langhoff spends six months of the year visiting son Charles and family in Odenton, Md., and her daughter and family, the Robt. Jones in Dover, Del. Her daughter, Nancy Mahofsky who has lived with her since June will continue to make her home with her mother in New Orleans where they have taken an apartment in the Garden District.

Joseph. Mr. Frazer, born in Scotland 80 years ago, has led a most adventurous life. While in his early twenties he spent several years in Kenya where he was truly darkest Africa; he being the only white inhabitant in the area. He contracted malaria which continued to plague him during a 51-year tenure in British Honduras. It was while he was recuperating from one of these bouts that he first visited the Gulf Coast a number of years ago and prompted him to chose Waveland for his retirement. He said he made up his mind that the severe '61 hurricane was just one too many for him to take in the tropics, having lost property in several preceding blows.

Measles, a sure sign that spring is on the way, is on the rampage once more. Little Gil Langley is the latest victim.

Area Enterprise

Sunday night's fire was spectacular and we would guess that one mighty hard working businessman suffered a heavy financial loss, since it is seldom that such losses are completely covered by insurance and in any event it takes a long time to get a new business started.

On the other hand there was one good aspect to this serious blow. The very fast response of our own fire department and its volunteers and the quick assistance furnished by Pass Christian, Long Beach, Piquette and Keeler. Until our own equipment was augmented by that from the Pass and Long Beach it seemed certain to this editor that much greater damage, including the possibility a whole block might be gutted would occur.

While the fire was essentially under control before Piquette's truck arrived, we think it important to remember that when unofficially asked they came immediately, saying they remembered a few years back when the Bay fire department helped save them.

Of the many local individuals, as well as those from neighboring cities, who worked ably and hard it would be impossible and a mistake to try to single out a few. Our thanks go to all of them.

The outstanding good thing of the week to us was the co-operation of the area's communities in keeping a serious fire from being much worse.

The importance of taxes paid local governments by public utility firms may be judged by the short news story telling of Mississippi Power Company's payment of $46,419.88 to our three governing bodies and of L & N's delivery of check's amounting to $30,399.20 to two of them.

Neither of these utilities are the largest public utility taxpayers in our county, but those two alone bear a sizeable part of the costs of our schools and other expenses while providing services needed by most of us.

Wonder how many, remembering Sunday night, joined us in jumping Tuesday night when the Mothers' March of Dimes signaled its start by a siren?

News Media Our Readers Write

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:
 I fully agree with your reflections on The New York Times newspaper (Editorial, The Sea Coast Echo, Jan. 25, 1962). Unfortunately there are many more news media of the same stripe. Also, unfortunately, we cannot cast a jaundiced eye only on such media.

Just last week I observed (The Sea Coast Echo, Jan. 18, 1962) that our own elected officials have suggested application for federal aid for the North Central School. We may very well obtain fine school facilities in this way, better perhaps than we can afford through local taxation, but in so doing, who are we to blame when this "aid" turns into federal marshals or troops, who, in the guise of the "law of the land" (RE: the Times and others), attempt to force their ideas upon us?

For those still in a state of self delusion, the interest on federal aid of any kind must be paid indefinitely. The interest rate is also very high. More often than not, the price runs as high as bankruptcy of personal freedom.

Very truly yours,
 DWIGHT A. PAYNE, Jr.
 Bay St. Louis.
 Editor, Sea Coast Echo:
 Just want to thank Sheriff

Gerald V. Price and his staff for their excellent system of handling taxpayers by numbers.

This has greatly speeded the service rendered to the public.

Sincerely,
 MRS. A. SHAFER and daughter,
 MRS. ROBT. L. SLIGER,
 Clermont Harbor.

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:
 Your paper has much influence on our community and we wonder if you could influence the Bay St. Louis authorities to use the same method as New Orleans is using to combat this increasing acts of theft and vandalism by juveniles. The "little dears" seem to be able to "get by with murder," their names kept secret and placed in custody of parents. If these parents were made to pay for damages and exposed, possibly they would better assume their duties as parents.

It is getting so, that when we spend a few days in New Orleans we half way expect to return to find our home in shambles.

Yours most cordially,
 DR. WALTER C. HAVA,
 Waveland.

The fire is believed to have been ignited from an electrical compressor unit in the rear of Carter's place. Walls at the rear crumpled rapidly. Firewalls on Meyer's and Benigno's side walls stopped the flames from seeping into their properties.

Gulf Coast History

It is customary to credit Pineda with having discovered and entered the Mississippi River as he journeyed along the coast eastward; but there is nothing in his own story to even suggest that he did so.

He tells of having "discovered" a river of "very great volume" which was thereafter plotted on Spanish maps as the Espiritu Santo, and which, for some unaccountable reason, has been assumed by some to have been the Mississippi; but let us note his own description of it: He says that on its banks he found a considerable Indian town, at which he remained for forty days, trading with the Indians and careening his vessels. Farther up the river he found the banks so thickly inhabited that within the space of six leagues (eighteen miles) he counted no less than forty Indian villages.

We may say there that twenty-three years later De Soto was told by Indians that the lower banks of the Mississippi river were uninhabitable wastes. Furthermore, Spanish maps showed the Espiritu Santo emptying into an inland bay. The Mississippi, far from emptying into an inland bay had, as we know formed a delta extending into the gulf, giving it not one but a number of outlets; and its marshy banks were unsuited to the careening of vessels.

The Mobile River, on the other hand, does empty into a bay; and on its shores there are suitable places for the careening of vessels; and the fact that many Indians did dwell on its banks is borne out by all early records. Pineda undoubtedly entered Mobile Bay and the Mobile River in search of a passage to the Land of Spices; but as for his having accidentally stumbled on the "Father of Waters" and having sailed up through one of its dangerous passes for a distance of eighteen or more miles, let us recall the experiences of others:

La Salle, though he later on descended the Mississippi to the Gulf and saw how it divides at that point into several passes, failed to discern those passes from the Gulf of Mexico on his next expedition which was undertaken for that very purpose.

Iberville on the same mission, never having seen the passes, mistook the mud-covered rubbish about the openings for a rocky choro and, but for a storm that was gathering at the moment, he would have gladly continued on his way. But, being threatened by the growing storm, he headed in toward land in desperation. Happily what appeared to be rocks proved to be only mud covered snags and trash through which flowed a pass of the river he sought.

So great were the dangers to navigation, from sand bars and snags, that for many years thereafter both French and Spanish pilots feared those waters. Fancy then a competent navigator like Pineda risking his chances of ever reaching home again by sailing in with his four caravels against the swift current of the Mississippi.

As for the "Very great volume" of water which he reported: He also informed Garry that many of the natives whom he saw wore gold ornaments; and that among them were giants and pigmies. He even said that he discovered an inclination among them to be converted to the Church of Rome.

Evidently Pineda was trying to lighten Garry's disappointment at his failure to discover the passage he was sent to find. His invention of the gold ornaments may have been intended to suggest the possibility of finding gold mines in the new posses-suggested that one way to get all such roads paved would be for the state legislature to find some source of $4 million a year revenue and assign it to the highway department for bonding. This would permit about $50 million in bonds and all the roads could be paved in a few years.

Both Smith and Kent said that since the federal government would be paying the cost of relocation of Route 43 it would determine the new location. Kent added that no decision on this location could be made until after the exact location of the launchings pads in the test area had been determined, since their location might make a difference in where the road ran. This phase he thought would be up to the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Both speakers thought maintenance of the non-state roads in the buffer zone would be the responsibility of the county, but Kent felt sure that the federal government would make a fair

... guest speaker.

Adam...

Haas, Jr., introduced as a "triple threat in the court room, went into a 100 years of Mississippi politics in his speech entitled 50 Years of Hot Mississippi Politics, bringing up the historical facts of reconstruction, including Thaddeus Stevens, Pennsylvania's mortal foe of the South in Reconstruction Days, Gen. William T. Sherman who had his army devastate so much of the South and held to a creed that after he passed a crow in crossing the area would have to carry its own rations. Pointing out that Sherman was still considered something of a hero by the Republican party and the Little Rock "invasion" was under President Dwight Eisenhower, Adam said he had nothing against Republicans but "just don't ask me to be one" at the same time reminding the almost capacity audience that he didn't like all the Democrats were doing in Washington.

Where Mississippi politics were concerned Adam remarked "I ought to know about them because I've had my throat cut enough times, but said he was 'out of the field of politics as a person's thing' while admitting that Mrs. Adam, and age were the primary reasons he didn't run for governor in the last election, 1959, and "I wanted to run only to put some life in a campaign that looked like a funeral procession".

Mathis emphasized that not enough people know "God" and that "Communism has nothing spiritual to cling to". His talk obviously impressed Adam who commented that he ought to know a man with a "political pitch" and "if you don't run for governor you're cheating yourself".

Blano, the "long giant from a Pearl River city" (Poplarville, originally in Hancock County) on election to his third term as

U. S. Senator in the mid forties was refused his seat by the Senate and "sent home to die", which he did before final determination of the matter, Adam told the group and this, he said, "sent every white man and woman in Mississippi back home to die". (Sen. Robert Taft, (R-Ohio) was one of those who supported referring Bilbo's election to a committee on the complaints from Negro groups.)

Other Mississippi political figures commented in the resumé of 50 years of hot politics in Mississippi included U. S. Senators John Sharp Williams, Pat Harrison, James Vardaman, and several of the state's governors. Logue...

HARRISON CENTRAL BOYS COPPED BHS INVITATIONAL SATURDAY NIGHT

THIS HARRISON CENTRAL GIRLS TEAM WON THEIR DIVISION OF BHS EVENT

Harrison Central Wins BHS Tourney

Harrison Central's Red Rebels built up a 25 point lead in the fourth quarter and coasted to a 74-45 victory over Hancock North Central Saturday night in the finals of the Bay High Invitational Tournament. Harrison Central's sextet also won in the girls' division, 58-52 over St. Martin.

Harrison Central, twice victims of the Hancock Countians earlier this year, took an early lead and were never headed in the boys' championship affair. They led 19-11 after one quarter, 37-22 at halftime, 54-37 going into the final quarter, and by 25 points in the fourth period before a full-court press against Rebel reserves cut into the margin in the final three minutes. The Hawks scored 28 points in the fourth quarter, the most in single quarter by any team in the tournament.

James Ladner and Robin Wilson tallied 20 points apiece to pace Coach Roland Ladner's Rebels. Jimmy Doherty scored 15 in a substitute role. Berlin Ladner led Coach Billy Sills' Hawks with 15. Richard Cuevas had 12, Lionel Hoda 10, Eugene Ladner nine, Donald Ladner eight, Melvin Mitchell seven, and Jimmy Favre four. The Red Rebels played nearly the entire game without forward Paul Ladner, one of their top scorers, and the Hawks played all but one minute without captain O. J. Peterson, one of their top two scorers and their playmaker.

In the girls' championship contest, Harrison Central led 13-11 in the first quarter, trailed 29-26 at halftime, and was still behind 41-37 after three periods, pulling the game out of the fire in the final minute. Debbie Lanning, Jerri Evans, and Iva Lita Haden scored 24, 21, and 13 points for the winners. Elaine Powell and Toni Terretta had 20 and 19 for the Yellow Jackets.

North Central's Hawks had reached the finals by posting wins over Pass High and Ocean Springs. The Hawks defeated Pass High Thursday night 57-34. Berlin Ladner scored 16, O. J. Peterson 12, Eugene Ladner 11, and Donald Ladner seven for the winners. Pass High was playing without their top scorer, Jimmy Beagan.

The Hawks defeated Ocean Springs 63-56 Saturday afternoon with a second half rally. Peterson led Hawk scorers with 25 points, Berlin Ladner scored 16, and Eugene Ladner added 14. The Hawks trailed 16-14 after one quarter, were tied 28-28 at halftime, ran away to a 49-34 third quarter lead, and stopped a Greyhound rally in the fourth stanza.

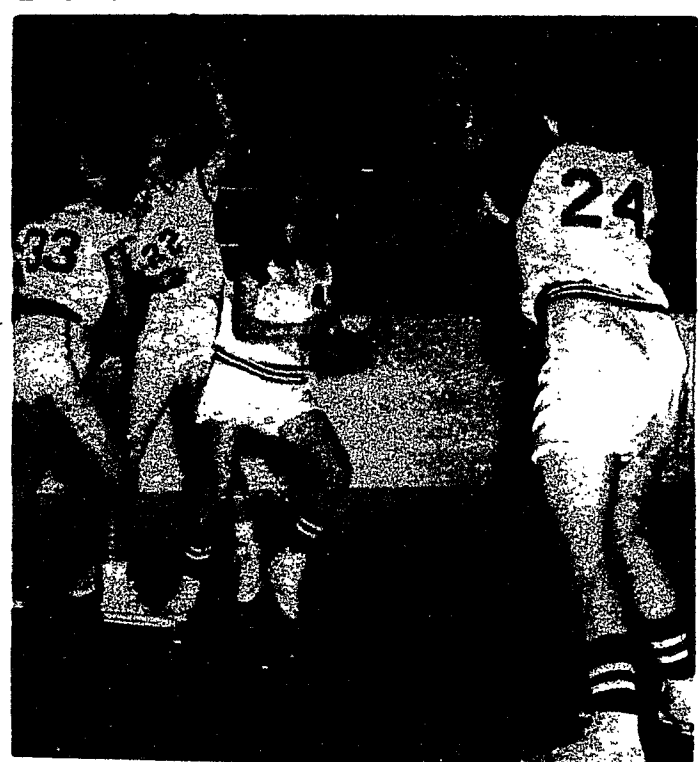

The Hawks were eliminated in the consolation game.

Sub-District B-BB Play Next for SJA

The retreat this week will give St. Joseph Academy's Gold Jays a chance to rest in preparation for the sub-district B-BB tournament at Biloxi next week when they are scheduled to meet St. John's at 5:30 p.m. Thursday. They need a win in the opener to advance to the district event.

GOLD JAYS ON THE MOVE - Judy Favre (24) tries for a St. Joseph Academy score against Ocean Springs in opening play of BHS tourney while Cassie Rhodes staves off defense.

St. Martin Nips Rocks

St. Stanislaus, after one hard-earned victory, was eliminated from the Bay High Invitational in the quarter-finals Friday night by St. Martin 60-45.

The Rocks, with a big fourth quarter, pulled away from Long Beach in the opening round, to win 59-43. Brother Ralph's quietest took a 16-11 lead in the first period behind the fine shooting of forward Mike Gore, and left the floor with a 28-19 halftime advantage. The Bears, playing a fine rebounding game, began to roll in the third quarter and trailed only 34-30 going into the final stanza. A 25 point outburst in the fourth quarter by Gore, guard Nodie Ladner, and reserve forward Curtis Matherne, gave the Rocks their winning margin.

Gore led all scorers with 24 points. Ladner added 11, Matherne 10, Waldo Caceres seven, Waymon Carr five, and Mike Scaffold two. Gore and Matherne were the leading Rock rebounders, although Carr, who fouled out early in the fourth stanza, also played a good board game.

The Rocks surprised heavily favored St. Martin Friday night taking a 20-14 lead late in the second quarter with about 2:50 to go after trailing 9-7 in the first quarter. They were on the short end at halftime 22-20 and when the buzzer sounded ending the third period the score was even at 36-36.

St. Martin wasted no time in pulling away, however, in the final period, scoring eight straight points in less than three minutes. Although St. Stanislaus narrowed the lead to six points on three different occasions, superior height enabled St. Martin to pull away.

Bobby Webb of St. Martin was game high scorer with 21 points. Mike Gore led SSC with 15 points. 11 of them in the third quarter. Moe Scaffold added 10 points for the Rocks, Waymon Carr nine, Nodie Ladner six and Waldo Caceres five.

Next stop on the basketball calendar for Brother Ralph's quintet is at Hattiesburg Sunday against Sacred Heart.

BHS Out In Opener

Perkinston's Bullpups, behind the fine all-around play of center R. J. Bell and good shooting of Larry Moran, upset favored Bay High 50-42 Wednesday night in the opening round of the Tigers invitational basketball tournament. The Tigerettes also lost in the first round to St. Martin 54-38.

The Tigerettes fell behind early in their game Friday with St. Martin, trailing 13-8 after one quarter, but late in the second stanza with six straight points Bay High tied the score and after an exchange of baskets and a free throw by St. Martin's Elaine Powell, the Tigerettes took a 22-21 lead. The Yellow Jackets regained the lead 27-26 at halftime. The Tigerettes tied it up at 27-27 in the opening seconds of the third period, but St. Martin pulled away and Coach Wilmer Seymour's girls were never ahead again.

Carol Bourgeois scored 18 points to pace Bay High, 13 in the first half. Susie Doering, with eight points in the second quarter, finished the night with 14, and Glenda Kennedy scored six.

The Tigers started and finished poorly against Perkinston, appearing tired after playing St. Martin in Biloxi in a regular season game the night before. Perk led 11-9, 21-17, and 37-30 at the quarter breaks. Bay High came out red hot in the fourth quarter and reeled off eight points in a row to take a 38-37 lead with 5:30 to go. Perkinston fought back to retake the lead at 40-38. Freshman forward Ross Maurigi sank a free throw to cut the margin to 40-39 but the Bullpups scored six straight points and galloped to their final margin.

Moran, a substitute, got 22 points to lead the Bullpups to their triumph. Ronnie Peterson led Bay High with 17 points, Richard Schaefer scored 13, Leroy Luke eight, Maurigi three, and Ronnie Russell one. Center Todd Thomas led Bay High in rebounds with nine. Schaefer had seven and Maurigi six.

Matherne's Shot Puts SSC in Front

Curtis Matherne dumped in two points to put St. Stanislaus' cagers ahead in the last three seconds of play against St. John's Sunday night and gave the Rocks a three-point margin of victory. Mike Gore paced scoring for the local squad with 23 points.

Next stop on the basketball calendar for Brother Ralph's quintet is at Hattiesburg Sunday against Sacred Heart.

SJA Wins Award For Sportsmanship

The best sportsmanship trophy in last weekend's Bay High Invitational went to St. Joseph Academy's stellar sextet which bowed 45-38 to St. Martin's girls in the semi-finals Saturday after routing Ocean Springs 70-51 in the opener.

The Gold Jays were handicapped without the services of guard Eran Artigues and star forward Mary Jo Krieger was not at full strength. St. Martin used a good defense and hot-shooting forwards to whip the locals. SJA was on top 10-9 after one quarter, but fell behind 20-15 at halftime and trailed 33-24 starting the fourth period.

Mary Jo Krieger led the Gold Jays with 14 points, Cassie Rhodes and Judy Favre each contributed 12 markers. St. Martin's Toni Terretta and Faye Meyer each scored 16 and Elaine Powell had 13. It was only the fifth loss of the season for Mrs. Joe Carlson's sextet after 18 wins.
